Objectives:

Fire and safety award categories often fall into areas like overall safety performance, specific innovations, leadership, sector-specific achievements, and individual recognition. Examples include awards for zero incident performance, process safety, innovative safety technology, safety training, and recognition for individuals like a "Woman HSE Leader" or "Workspace Safety Manager".

Awards for facilities and projects:

- ✓ Safe and Secure Manufacturing/Office/Residential Facility: Recognizes a facility that has demonstrated exceptional fire and safety management within its specific type of building.
- ✓ Best Project of the Year: Honours a specific fire protection or safety installation project that demonstrates excellence from planning to execution.
- ✓ Best EHS Project: Given for outstanding projects that improve overall Environment, Health, and Safety (EHS) performance.

Awards for products and innovations:

- ✓ Product of the Year: Awards a newly released fire or safety product for its contribution to security and safety. Categories may be specialized, such as:
 - Detection and Sensing Devices
 - Announcement and Notification Devices
 - Perimeter Intrusion Detection System
- ✓ Innovation of the Year: Recognizes a ground breaking product or technology that advances the field of fire and safety.
- ✓ EHS Innovation Award: Specifically recognizes new and innovative solutions within the broader Environment, Health, and Safety domain.

Awards for individuals and teams:

- ✓ Fire Safety Manager of the Year: Honours a specific individual for outstanding leadership and commitment to fire and safety management.
- ✓ Firefighter of the Year: Recognizes an individual firefighter for heroic actions, leadership, or exceptional service.
- ✓ Team of the Year: Awards a team that has worked collaboratively to achieve a significant improvement in health, safety, or wellbeing.
- ✓ Emerging Fire Protection Industry Leader: Recognizes a young or early-career professional who shows exceptional promise in the field.
- ✓ EHS Professional of the Year / EHS Champion: Given to an individual who demonstrates excellence in promoting EHS standards.

Awards for management and campaigns:

- ✓ Campaign of the Year: Honors a public awareness campaign or safety initiative that has successfully educated and influenced behavior related to fire and safety.
- ✓ Best EHS Program: Recognizes an organization's program for its effectiveness in improving safety.
- ✓ Best CSR Practices: Awards a company for its commitment to Corporate Social Responsibility, specifically related to community fire and safety.

Awards based on performance and risk:

- ✓ Distinguished Safety Award: Given to facilities that achieve exceptionally low incident rates over a calendar year.
- ✓ Safety Awards by Unit/Risk Level: Some organizations categorize awards based on the risk level of the facility (e.g., high fire risk vs. low fire risk).
- ✓ Accident-Free Milestone Awards: Celebrates organizations or departments that have operated for a specific period without any recordable accidents.

Award Year: 2026

Assessment Year: 2025 (1st January 2025 to 31st December 2025)

HOW TO APPLY FOR AWARDS

Application Evaluation

This is the initial stage where all submitted applications are reviewed. The evaluation process typically involves:

- ✓ Checking Eligibility: Ensuring that each application meets the basic criteria and requirements set forth for the assessment.
- ✓ Reviewing Documentation: Carefully examining the documents and information provided by the applicants to verify their accuracy and completeness.
- ✓ Scoring and Shortlisting: Assigning scores based on predefined criteria and shortlisting the applications that qualify for the next stage.

Selection of Winners by Jury Based on the Presentation of Qualifying Sites After Virtual Assessment

The final stage involves the selection of winners by a jury. This process includes:

- ✓ Preparing Presentations: The qualifying units prepare detailed presentations showcasing their strengths, achievements, and compliance with the assessment criteria.
- ✓ Jury Evaluation: A panel of judges or jury members reviews the presentations. They may consider factors such as innovation, impact, sustainability, and overall excellence.
- ✓ Final Decision: Based on the presentations and the virtual assessments, the jury selects the winners. The decision is usually based on a combination of scores, qualitative assessments, and overall impressions.
